One For The Road — Make It Coffee & Cake

With the catchy slogan, "Safe Christmas Thinking, No Office Party Drinking," the Lake County Safety Commission is hoping to reduce the holiday toll on the highways.

Posters sent out by the Commission recommend that office parties be confined to a cup of coffee and a piece of cake.

You may be one of two Americans who will die every fifteen minutes during the Christmas holidays, warns the commission. One major accident cause spills out of glasses and bottles. Don't mix drinking and driving. The happiness of your family's Christmas depends on your safe arrival at home.

"Take a break, eat coffee and cake," advises the commission. "Curtailment of the Christmas Party through the request of your cooperation in helping to dry up the alcoholic content by serving coffee and cake does not necessarily put a damper on a joyous holiday spirit—but it might save your life."

H.S. Team At TV Quiz Show

The Antioch High School team didn't win the quiz show contest, "It's Academic," last Saturday, but they made an excellent showing, says Mr. Eggleston, faculty advisor of the group.

The Antioch team was competing with teams from Elmhurst and Lincoln Way High Schools. Elmhurst came off the victor, scoring 315 points to Antioch's 230 and Lincoln's Way 70.

The Antioch team completed correctly answering nine questions out of 10 in an allotted time, a record to date. Had they managed to answer the tenth before the deadline they would have scored an extra 50 points.

All of the three team members — Stanley Sutherland, John Hallway and Janet Polley—did an outstanding job, Mr. Eggleston said, particularly Janet Polley.

Antioch High School was the only one of the three schools to have their cheerleaders accompany the team. Forty pupils from Antioch were also in the audience. Most of them, Mr. Eggleston reported, were well-covered by the camera and will be seen on television when the show is aired on Dec. 29.

The Antioch team was at the studios at 2 p.m. Saturday. They were made up for color television, then taken through a "dry run" of the show before the actual competition and taping at 4:30 p.m.

Busiest Place In Town—The Post Office

Probably the busiest place in town these days is the Antioch Post Office.

There are lots of stores to canvass in the search for Christmas gifts, and hundreds of Christmas cards to address, but only one place to mail the cards, letters, and those gifts which must go by mail to brighten someone's holiday.

Four extra clerks, four extra rural mail carriers and one extra city carrier have been added to the post office staff for this season. Even so, eight of them worked till noon Sunday sorting mail.

Thirty-two thousand pieces of first class mail were cancelled at the Antioch post office Saturday and 8,000 Sunday. 35,000 pieces were cancelled Monday and more than 100 sacks of parcel post were received at the office to be delivered locally, said Roy Kufalk, postmaster.

Mr. Kufalk says the mail load is slackening off as the week goes on. He anticipates another heavy day of incoming mail next Monday, but less outgoing mail each day. Wednesday, the day after Christmas, will be another heavy day before things return to normal for another year.

Lost Money Returned

Mrs. Nellie Hanke has most of the money she lost on Antioch's Main St. last week, back.

Mrs. Hanke lost the roll of bills from her purse while Christmas shopping. She wasn't sure just where she lost it. We wrote the story of her loss in the paper last week.

The boys who had found the roll of bills—there was no name with it to identify the loser—read the story and promptly returned the money they had. One other boy, who had been with them and had a small amount of the money, didn't return it, but most of the $77 was intact.

The three who returned the money were Ernest Westlund, Richard Miller and Jim Lindley.

Give Now For "Toyful Xmas"

This is the final week in the giant Moose Toys for Needy Children campaign and the committee announces that still more toys are needed to assure a "Toyful" Christmas for every boy and girl in the area.

"Operation Santa Claus" toy collection depots are conveniently located at the following business houses and addresses:

Jaycee Building, Main and Lake streets.

Moose Lodge, Main street.

Jewel Tea Store, Lake St.

Post office, Orchard St.

IGA Store, Rts. 59 & 173.

According to a list of needy children in this area, supplied by the local church and civic groups, more than two-thirds of the necessary toys have been collected. "I'm sure that the citizens of Antioch most certainly will see to it that the other one-third will also be taken care of in this last week of the campaign," said Ed Petersen, chairman of the Moose lodge's civic affairs committee.

The local campaign is part of the campaign, conducted by more than 2,000 Moose lodges in the United States and Canada, to make sure that every needy boy and girl is assured a "toyful" Christmas.

"Much of the success of the local campaign is due to the fine cooperation the Moose lodge has received from the local newspapers, churches, fraternal and civic groups," said chairman Ed Petersen.

Special Xmas Week Services

Gilbert L. Howe, pastor and evangelist of Kenosha will conduct a series of special Christmas services beginning Sunday night, December 23, and concluding Sunday night, Dec. 30. Meetings will be held at 7:30 p.m. every night except Monday night, Christmas Eve.

By courtesy of Mr. Walter Block, a prominent layman of Kenosha, the services will be held in the cafeteria of Quaker Industries, 90 McMillen Road, Antioch. Mr. Block is president of this company.

Rev. Howe will be assisted by several Bible College Gospel teams, representing Columbia Bible College of Columbia, South Carolina, and Bethany Missionary Institute of Minneapolis. These ministerial students are members of Hickory Chapel pastored by Rev. Howe.

In addition to a splendid musical program, some special features throughout the week will give these services added interest. The public is cordially invited to attend the meetings which will be strictly nonsectarian.

3 Antioch Students Among Semi-Finalists

The Illinois State Scholarship Commission has announced that 5,974 Illinois resident students have qualified as semi-finalists in the 1963-64 State Scholarship Program on the basis of achievement in the competitive examination. All semi-finalists are being notified directly and will receive application materials to be completed and returned to the Commission.

John F. Hallway, 1045 Osmond Ave., Carol L. Lasco, 965 S. Main St., and Janet M. Polley, 908 Osmond Ave., of Antioch were among the semi-finalists.

Xmas Display at Fire Dept. Brightens Town

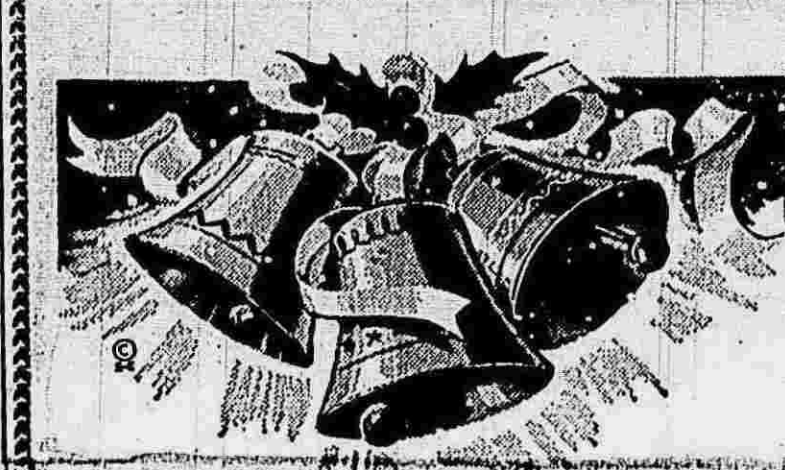

The most gaily-decorated spot in Antioch is the corner of Main and Orchard Sts.—the park beside the Rescue Squad building.

The Fire Department has a beautiful manger scene on display here, and a gaily decorated Christmas tree stands on the lawn.

The Christmas decorations were paid for and all the work done by the Antioch Fire Dept.

Osmond Selected To Fill Post In Precinct One

At a meeting of Republican Precinct committeemen of Antioch on Tuesday night, Bernard Osmond was selected to fill the vacancy of precinct committeeman of Precinct 1, left open when Mrs. Ruth Seyfarth moved to Blue Island.

The committeemen had hoped to ask the township Board for a caucus on the question of having township supervisors and road commissioners run for office on a party ticket. However, action was deferred until the Jan. 2 meeting, because Mr. Osmond and another committeeman were not present.

A resolution was made recently at a meeting of the executive board of the Republican Central Committee which read, "Whereas, the Republican party is always concerned with the selection of responsible and qualified candidates to represent the party, it is recommended by the executive committee of the Lake County Republican Central Committee that wherever practicable efforts should be made to encourage candidates for the respective township offices to run under Republican party banners and that such decisions and actions of the several townships to be determined by the respective Republican Precinct Committeemen's Organization of the individual townships."

Avon township has already gone on record as adopting the partisan policy for township offices.

The committeemen are required to ask their township board for a caucus on the matter. This action will be taken at their Jan. 2 meeting.

Mr. Osmond was precinct committeeman of Precinct 1 some years ago. His experience in the office and excellent record were given by the precinct committeemen as the reason for his selection.

The Village Board reportedly held a special meeting Tuesday night, Dec. 11.

Homeowners on North Main St. owning property adjacent to that on which Charles Cermak had asked approval of construction of an apartment building were present to voice their objection to the proposed building.

Chief objections, said Dave Nissen, chairman of the zoning committee, were concern for cheapening of property values and increased traffic, children and general nuisance to the neighborhood.

The Board did not approve the building plans and the zoning committee was instructed to make a further study of the subject.

The Kennedy Construction Co., it was reported, again offered $7,500 for a lot owned by the Village in Industrial Acres. Board members said the offer was accepted.

The Board has refused two previous offers from Mr. Kennedy to buy this lot. The reason given was that the Village should keep this lot, possibly for a park. The village well is located on the property.

The property on which the well is located was not sold to Mr. Kennedy and, according to board members, two strips are being reserved for village use.

The Board has previously refused to sell this particular piece of property to at least one other company, Charming, which needs room for expansion.

Board members said that the main reason for changing their minds and deciding to sell the property was the large price offered for the lot.

According to Mr. Kennedy, a building costing $50,000 to $60,000 will be erected on the lot he purchased, to serve as office building and work shop. The company has been awarded a job in Glendale, Wis., and hopes to do more work in the southern Wisconsin area. The company has also, he says, been awarded a job in Round Lake Beach on which work will begin shortly.

Work on the building, Mr. Kennedy says, will begin shortly and he hopes to have it completed by March 1.

Property owners on North Main St. voiced vigorous protests to the proposed apartment building, it was reported. Board member Dave Nissen said the board did not approve the construction of the apartment building at the proposed site, and the Zoning Committee, of which Mr. Nissen is chairman, is trying to find other suitable property for the building project.

Another new business opened its doors in Antioch recently to join the growing ranks of Antioch businessmen.

The S & S Tailors is located in the remodelled garage next to the First Church of Christ, on Victoria St.

Agnes Sefick, owner and operator of the business, has done tailoring for 32 years. The shop will take care of all types of alterations and make suits to order.

Lake County Coroner Lists Death Causes

A report from the office of Lake County Coroner Babcock lists 625 deaths investigated from Dec. 1, 1961 to Dec. 1, 1962.

Of these 239 deaths were attributed to heart conditions; 63 to other natural causes; 73 to traffic accidents; 2 to airplane accidents; 5 to train-pedestrian accidents; 2 to gunshot accidents; 8 to accidental drowning; 5 to accidental carbon monoxide poisoning; 4 to industrial accidents; 14 to miscellaneous accidents; 19 to suicide and 11 to homicide.

Students in the sixth grade at St. Peter's Catholic School in Antioch have been thrilled by the receipt of a letter from President Kennedy, accompanied by a picture of the first family.

The letter came in response to letters written by the students to the President. The letters were written at the time of the Cuban situation, mainly expressing their confidence in the president and the hope that peace would be preserved.

Some of the students had requested a picture or an autograph. Many received personal replies, in addition to the letter sent to the whole grade. Those who had requested pictures or autographs received them.

The Spirit of The Season

We think Fire Chief Simonsen and the Fire Department deserve a word of praise for the time and effort that went into "dressing up" their corner to lend Christmas spirit to the town.

We're all so busy at Christmas, with the endless details, extra chores and pursuit of money to finance our Christmas activities, that Christmas slips up on us. We find that extra effort which it takes to organize activities that provide pleasure for the community and the passer-by is just never made.

We all enjoy the beauty and wonder of bright Christmas decorations. We wonder how many hundreds of cars have slowed to admire the star that glows from the west shore of Lake Antioch. How many strangers, unknown to the family that displays the star, have felt again the thrill of wonder and joy that is Christmas as the star came into their view?

All of the homemakers and merchants who have done their bit to brighten the Christmas scene deserve our thanks. If we could each take time for that bit of selfless effort, the much-talked-of commercialism of Christmas would be over-ridden by its beauty and spirit.

Courthouse Notebook

BY LOU DURKIN

It took him a long time to get around to it, but JFK finally came through with the appointment of Circuit Judge Bernard F. Decker to the Federal bench in the Northern Illinois District.

The appointment was predicted first in this corner in October, 1961, but political considerations and other minor events that took some of the President's time and attention apparently caused the delay in the appointment.

Although appointed by a Democratic President, Judge Decker's nomination came from U. S. Senator Everett M. Dirksen, a long time friend and political ally.

Confirmation by the Senate is a foregone conclusion and Judge Decker will take up his new duties as soon as the details of the shift can be completed.

The appointment opens up some interesting speculation on the new Circuit court vacancy, speculation clouded considerably by the amendment to the judicial article of the state constitution which was approved by the voters in the November election.

The consensus seems to be that Gov. Otto Kerner can appoint a judge to fill the vacancy created by Judge Decker's appointment, but the appointee will only complete the present term which expires in June.

Thus a June election will be necessary to elect a judge for a full term and also to add one Circuit Judge to the 19th Judicial Circuit embracing Lake and McHenry counties.

Judge William M. Carroll, of Woodstock, and Judge Thomas Moran, the song and dance man, of Waukegan, are frozen in office under the terms of the Blue Ballot amendment until the general election of 1964 when they will run against their records.

Best bet for the appointment to fill the Decker vacancy is Phil Yager, an assistant Illinois attorney general and a former candidate for the post of Circuit Judge.

Republicans are understandably worried that the judicial amendment may be interpreted to include the appointee, almost certain to be a Democrat, in the judicial freeze, which would break the courthouse monopoly enjoyed by the GOP since 1935.

Maneuvering is already underway among potential candidates for the judgeship to be added to the district with State's Attorney Bruno W. Stanczak and Highland Park Attorney Mortimer Singer among the aspirants.

The addition of Judge Decker's position to the campaign should enliven matters considerably on the political front in the future.

Another political appointment that has created considerable stir is State Treasurer William Scott's naming of Shields Supervisor Robert Milton as deputy treasurer in charge of the Springfield office.

The discussion centers on whether or not Milton will retain his present post as supervisor and member of the county board along with his state job.

It is assumed he will continue as chairman of the Lake County Republican Central Committee, a non-paying post.

It has been suggested that Milton will keep his township post if the new job is part-time, which at $9,000 a year makes it a better than fair occupation.

Financially it would probably be a sacrifice for Milton to resign his post as supervisor to which he was appointed last spring following the death of John Casperson, but the Springfield job would open the door to his seeking election as Scott's successor, an undertaking the rotund Milton has long cherished.

Politics indeed make strange bedfellows. After an editorial recommending a shorter ballot to eliminate confusion among the poor peasants who trek to the polls each election day, Lake County's daily finds itself in agreement with the League of Women Voters.

This is strange enough, but in recent letters to the Editors, the shorter, simpler ballot for simple voters is endorsed by State Treasurer Francis Lorenz and State Auditor Michael J. Howlett, both Democrats, and by State Representative W. J. Murphy.

Howlett exempts the state auditor as an appointed officer on the basis that an auditor who owes his job to the governor can hardly be expected to make an objective audit.

Rep. Murphy would have the legislature appoint the state officers now selected by the people.

We'll take our chances on "appointment" by the people, but if we are going to have a shorter ballot we should do a thorough job.

Why not have the various States Attorneys, who represent the people of the State of Illinois appointed by the attorney general who has been appointed by the governor, thus insuring that the governor always has the "proper" legal advice?

Your Governor Reports by OTTO KERNER

Better enforcement practices by the Illinois Department of Revenue are bringing millions of additional dollars to state coffers in line with my policy of operating state government at top levels of efficiency and economy.

Revenue Director Theodore J. Isaacs has reported to me that because of these new collection programs Illinois should exceed revenue estimates for the two-year fiscal period ending June 30, 1963, by 18 to 24 million dollars.

One of the programs constitutes agreements among Illinois, Iowa and Missouri which work to ensure that each state is getting the revenue due it from businesses operating across state lines.

The report said that this program will improve our state's collections by some $3,000,000 a year. Illinois hopes to enter into similar agreements with Wisconsin and Indiana in the near future to further brighten this picture.

Along The Way

The Spirit of Christmas now completely surrounds us all. Even the problems of the world will be pushed to the second page to make room for Santa in the next few days. Smiles on the faces of everyone you meet, tell the age old story of "Joy to the World!" The bundles of greeting cards that arrive each day repeat the gladness of the season and of "Good-will to Men!"

However, all of Annie Mae's mail is not of such nature. Instead, typed upon MY last year's card, was the following verse, with a DARE to print same! (Of course signed with no name!)

"I venture to say . . . You spared no one along the way . . .

With dirt and vulgar tone of voice . . .

Truth or tale we had no choice! . . .

People chuckle with disgust But you write for the Antioch News,

"YOU MUST!"

And so I feel compelled to reply,

Words of complaint I expect indeed!

For upon these letters does a columnist feed.

But the word VULGAR shook me I'll say.

For never was that intended Along the Way.

The "gossip" I write has meant no harm

Except to those who our children would charm.

To imbibe in drinking wine or beer

And whose age they never fear!

To jibe at politics and keep them alert,

Was meant to keep YOU from being hurt!

The rest of the items I DARE to write,

Are newsy bits just brought to light.

And so I'll close this rhyme with a little plea!

What is your opinion? Please write to me!

THE LATEST REPORT: Doc, Al Bucar and his B.W. picked up a pretty good sun-tan in Florida in spite of the chilly weather last week . . . Kenneth Anderson, Elmer Kruse, and Marge Anderson

Letters to the Editor

Dec. 12, 1962

Antioch News:

In letters to the Editor, unsigned, in last week's issue a party writes in that hospitals are too far away having to go to Waukegan, 23 miles.

For his information, a group of women and men have been collecting money and holding rummage sales and luncheons to raise money for the Countryside Hospital which will be built on Grand Avenue near route 59 on land that has been donated so if this party wants to help he can send contributions to Miss Jane Rundgren, Cedar Crest Drive, Petite Lake, Lake Villa, Ill., and it will go into the slowly rising fund. We will have a hospital with-television, and drowned in the flood of written words in newspapers and magazines. To communicate even more comprehensively we are now attempting to use man-made stars in outer space. The ideas we communicate, however, bring no peace but only continuous turmoil.

Into this confusion of sound and fury comes the simple message of Christmas, first announced by the Star of Bethlehem, of God's Peace through His Incarnate Word.

Today's world is confused and perilous, yet the message of Christmas still brings the assurance of peace. It is a message that is profound and full of mystery yet simple enough for a child to understand: God loves us, every last one of us.

In the midst of the babble of communication the promise of Christmas rings out: "Be of good cheer, I have overcome the world."

In these anxious times let us enjoy the assurance of God's eternal love. And may His blessing rest upon us all in this Holy Season.

The Industrial News Review applauds the news that "The Kennedy Administration plans to retreat from its attempt to impose an annual tax on American's fast-growing number of boat owners."

The plan was licked, the report says, by the organized and strong protests to Congress of boat owners.

The proposed tax would have been $5 on boats between 14 and 16 feet in length and $2 for every foot thereafter, annually.

Well, maybe it was the organized and strong protests of boat owners that made President Kennedy back down. But we wonder if the organized and strong protests of boat manufacturers didn't have more to do with it.

Cheery Cherry Xmas Bread

At Christmas time, Grandmother's oven produced its most savory and taste-tantalizing creations. High on the list of Yuletide favorites were those wonderfully pungent, Holiday breads. This Cheery Cherry Christmas Bread combines white sugar icicles, glaze and red cherries in a warm golden bread—just perfect for Holiday breakfasts or coffee klatches. The filling is spicy, and brims with raisins and tart red cherries.

Cheery Cherry Christmas Bread

1 No. 303 can tart red cherries
 1/2 cup brown sugar
 1 tablespoon corn starch
 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
 Dash of salt
 1/2 cup raisins
 1 tablespoon butter
 1/3 cup chopped walnuts
 1 package hot roll mix
 1 egg
 2 tablespoons melted butter
 1 tablespoon sugar
 Prepare cherry filling: Drain cherries thoroughly. Combine sugar, cornstarch, cinnamon and salt; add drained cherries and raisins. Cook and stir until thick. Add butter and cool. Add chopped nuts.
 Soften yeast in 1/4 cup warm water as directed on hot roll mix package. Stir in half of the roll mix. Beat in egg, butter and sugar. Stir in remaining roll mix. Stir in lightly floured surface knead 2 to 3 minutes. Place in a lightly greased bowl; cover and let rise in a warm place until double in bulk; about 1 hour. Divide dough in half; roll each to 11x9-inch rectangle. Place on greased cookie sheets. Spread cooled cherry filling down the center, lengthwise. With scissors, cut 1 inch wide strips from sides toward filling. Lace strips over filling. Seal ends carefully. Cover; let rise in warm place until almost double, about 45 minutes. Bake in 375° oven 15 to 20 minutes. Cool. Frost with confectioner's sugar icing.

 Yield: 2 loaves.

Library Notes

By Betty Lu Williams

The library will be closed the following days for the Christmas holidays:

Dec. 24, 25, 31, and Jan. 1. Have you ever heard of the "B & S Brown Stamps"? Well, come in and read about them. They are "For Tomorrow's executive," and "a sure-fire measuring-stick for the employee who warmly calculates a secure future." This was written by George Bloom and son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Scott. It is very clever and quite a take off on this age of stamps.

We have borrowed from our Regional Library, which is part of the State Library, 598 books since the first of October to supplement our collection. Most of these are changed every eight to twelve weeks for some different ones.

Eighty-one books have also been borrowed direct from the Illinois State Library for patrons needing special books and material which we did not have. We send to the State Library right along so there is no limit to the books and materials available to you at or through Your Antioch Township Library. We are here to serve you anyway we can.

Yes, I know some of you have wondered what the hours are or have forgotten them so here they are:

Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday—12:00 to 5:30 and 6:30 to 9:00.

Wednesday and Saturday: 10:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m.

Copy these down for now and then the next time you come in ask for one of our bookmarks which gives the hours, rules and phone number so you will always have it.

Here's wishing you all a Very Merry Christmas and may the Peace and Joy of the season be with you in the New Year.

Let's start the New Year by visiting your library and make it a habit of going often.

Here are a few of the new books:

Brent—The Seven Stairs—Biography. Tells of his first shop and final success.

Holiday Helps For Women

How to Remove Food Spots from Carpets

URBANA—Around the holidays, food and beverage spills threaten to mar carpets and rugs. However, the damage need not be permanent if you act promptly and use the right first-aid treatment.

K. Virginia Seidel, University of Illinois extension home furnishings specialist, recommends two simple, inexpensive, homemade formulas for removing many food spots except those caused by butter and other fats. Oily stains should be treated with non-flammable dry cleaning fluid only.

To make formula 1, combine a neutral detergent, such as Dreft or Vel, and lukewarm water. The recommended proportion is one teaspoon of detergent to one cup of water. For formula 2, use one-half cup of white vinegar mixed with 1 1/2 cups of lukewarm water.

To prevent permanent stains from beverages like coffee, tea, fruit juice or punch, wipe up the excess liquid promptly. Apply formula 1 to the area, making sure the sponge or cloth applicator is just damp, not sopping wet. Follow this by sponging with clean water and blotting up the excess. Then apply a little formula 2. Again, sponge the area with clean water and blot up excess moisture. Dry as quickly as possible. An overdose may result in brown stains caused by soaking the carpet backing.

If grease stains remain, apply dry-cleaning solvent, following manufacturer's directions. Avoid damage to latex backing from excess solvent. Dry area as quickly as possible.

Aliens Must Register By January 1

District Director John M. Lehmann, of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, stated that aliens in the United States will be required to report their addresses to the Attorney General within the near future.

All aliens with a few exceptions, who are in the United States on January 1, each year, must report their addresses by the end of that month. Only the following classes of aliens are excused from this requirement: (1) Accredited Diplomats; (2) Persons accredited to certain international organizations; and (3) Those admitted temporarily as agricultural laborers.

Forms with which to make the report can be obtained from any Post Office or Immigration Service Office during the month of January. Mr. Lehmann said that the law provides severe penalties for failure to comply with the reporting requirements.

Keep Kitchen Safe In Holiday Rush

URBANA—Preparing holiday meals means that the kitchen will be a busy place. And a busy kitchen is sometimes a hazardous one too, warns O. L. Hogsett, extension safety specialist at the University of Illinois.

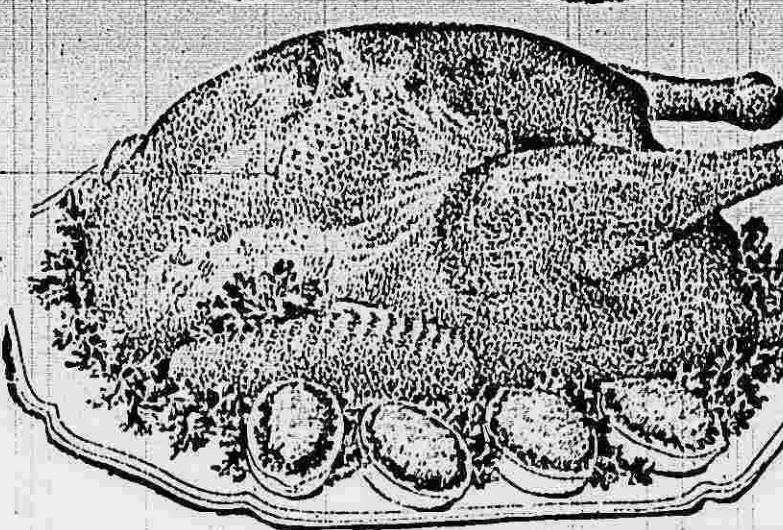

Whether you're preparing meals for a hungry household or fixing a tempting dinner for a houseful of guests, kitchen safety is important.

To avoid accidents in the kitchen, be safety conscious at all times. Do as much of your planning and preparation the day before as possible to avoid that last-minute rush. If at all possible, keep from getting in a hurry, and take time to be careful.

Turn handles of cooking utensils to the back of the stove—keep knives and other sharp instruments out of reach of children—use a safe stepladder to reach high shelves and other difficult storage places—organize small kitchen equipment and make sure all electrical cords, switches and plugs are in good condition.

Invest a little time and money in safety. The hospital bills you save by planning for safety will more than cover the cost.

The familiar Christmas kettles of the Salvation Army can be found on street corners all over the United States, wherever the Army is at work.

Sequoit Cagers Lose To Grant & Zion

Black Night For Antioch

The Antioch Sequoits got a long look at the other side of the ledger Friday night as they took a 73 to 44 drubbing from the Grant Bulldogs at Fox Lake.

The Sequoits played their worst game thus far and were outshot, out-rebounded, and out-hustled by an aggressive fast moving Grant squad.

The local boys were outpointed in every quarter and never really got started. Trailing 20 to 10 at the end of the first quarter, the Sequoits continued to drop farther back and by halftime were on the bottom of a 39 to 20 tally.

Starting the second half, Antioch went into an all court press defense which Grant promptly rattled for 23 points, while the Sequoits added only 14 to their own total. Grant added 11 more points in the final stanza to Antioch's 10.

The only bright spot on the ledger for the hapless Sequoits was the performance of Doug Lang, senior center. Lang collected 16 points on 4 baskets and 8 free throws. Doug also more than held his own in the rebounding department.

Normally top scoring Bob Kubicki managed only 7 points against the Grant defense. Jim Brownlee tried to get the Sequoit offense moving but nothing seemed to work. Brownlee added 10 counters to the cause.

The Antioch Soph squad, leading by 16 points at one point in the third quarter, held on and won a 52 to 46 decision over the Grant preps.

Vic Rogers took top scoring honor for the Sequoits as well as doing the heavy work on the boards, collecting 15 rebounds.

New Records Set by Illinois Deer Season

The Illinois white-tail deer season has established two new records: one for the number of deer harvested and the other for the number of permits issued to hunters.

About 35,000 shotgun deer hunters participated in the six-day season with 6,285 hunters being successful—a ratio of one deer for every 4.9 hunters in the field. Last year the Illinois Department of Conservation issued 19,292 shotgun permits and 4,323 deer were harvested.

According to William T. Lodge, director of the Illinois Department of Conservation, "The deer harvest exceeded the department's anticipated kill of 6,000, and not one hunting accident was reported."

RICK FOWLES (dark shirt) senior member of the Antioch High School wrestling team struggles for the advantage against his Grant opponent. Fowles lost his match but the Sequoit team outpointed the Grant squad to take the victory. The Sequoit groaners beat a grossly over matched Round Lake squad Tuesday night 51-3.

Whats

By Harry H. Stern

There was a bit of short lived excitement at Ed Sorenson's bait foundry the other day. Young Chuckie Haling marched in, announced he had bagged a two-toner mink and how much would Ed pay for it. All the inmates gathered round to view this unheard of spectacle, including Sorenson, who digs mink fur like an alcoholic digs instant booze. Even Vic Paulus evinced interest as Haling dipped into the sack and brought forth—a two-toned woods pussy, black with a white stripe on its back. (Someone thinks they saw Papa Haling shopping for a nature book, with pictures.

HOLIDAY NOTE—If you drink like a fish, swim—don't drive.

SPORTS HINT—Want to keep your leftover minnows alive till next time without tying up the bath tub? Put 'em in the flush tank. They'll get a fresh change of water every time someone "goes."

FISHING REPORT—Ice fishing has been pretty good this past week. Bluegills will hit on contented corn borers and wily weed worms, but the crappies were really going to town, mainly on Sorenson's pedigree pin-head minnows. One young lad ran out of bait several times within a two hour period. Most of the action occurred near Charlie's place at the south end of Channel Lake and some at Rudy's place on Lake Marie. Charlie Haling reports seeing many king-size northerns through the clear ice on Grass Lake, milling around in the shallow water, looking for a baited hook—but don't touch! Just look.

Sequoits to Play in Fenton Holiday Tourney, Dec. 26-29

Coach Roger Andrews will be busy this week putting his charges through rigorous drills, getting ready for the Fenton Holiday Tournament, December 26 through 29.

Pairings for the tournament, to be held at Bensenville, were released early this week. Tournament action will start Wednesday evening at 6:30 with Elmwood Park going against Reavis. Fenton will close out Wednesday's program when they meet Bremen at 8 p.m. Thursday, Lake Park will play St. Edwards in game 3 and Antioch will go against Kelvin Park at 6 p.m.

In looking over the teams, Sequoit Coach Roger Andrews said, "It looks like Reavis is the strongest team in the upper bracket." Elmwood Park lost to Mundelein early in the season but has been coming along strong in recent games and could be a threat.

St. Edwards is another likely contender. St. Edwards and Lake Park both have made victims of North Chicago. St. Edwards won over the young North Chicago quintet rather easily 78-40 while Lake Park had some what more difficult a time, winning 48-38. "Lake Park dropper. This is the guy who owns a 100 lb. chisel, and after banging a lot of holes through the ice with it, drops it with a resounding thud, scaring all the fish away from the area. Then there is the racer, who, when the flag on your tip-up goes up, races you to it and always wins. Next comes the coach. He tells you when and how to set the hook—and you always miss. Lastly comes Flashlight Boy. When fishing for walleyes at night and you get a strike, he shines his light in the hole to see in which direction the fish is taking the line. Kelvin Park, Antioch's first opponent in the tourney is a question mark, Andrews said, "I've never seen them play and am not familiar with any of the teams they have met thus far."

Bob Kraft led the Major League with a 601 series, bowling with the John Gaa team. Team series was 959-1037-1041 for a smashing 3037. Snapper Gerretsen of Volo Bait Shop turned in a 680.

Even the kids got into the act Saturday, with Ricky Ripley turning in a 239 game in the Junior League, Bob Lenczewski a 225, and Bernie Guntz a 215.

Zion Victor In Close One

The Antioch Sequoits looked more like a top flight ball club Saturday night when they gave Zion Benton a few scares, finally losing 56 to 54 at Zion.

At the beginning of the first quarter it looked like it might be a repetition of Friday night's performance against Grant. Trailing at the end of the period 21 to 14, the Sequoits settled down and battled their way into the lead 25 to 23 midway in the second quarter.

The score was knotted three times successively before the ZeeBees pulled away to a 33 to 27 halftime advantage. The Antioch quint opened the second half with 7 straight points to take the lead again 34 to 33. The scoring was even for the third period and Zion led going into the final stanza 40 to 43.

Led by Kubicki and Lang the Sequoits rallied to close the gap to 55 to 54 with 1 minute and 51 seconds left. A free throw by Krelle with 15 seconds remaining made it 56 to 54.

Zion went into ball control but Antioch stole the ball in the closing seconds only to have field goal attempts by Doug Lang and John Hallwas fail.

Doug Lang for the second night in a row put on an outstanding performance, grabbing 18 rebounds and together with Hallwas held Clarence Smith, one of Zion's top scorers, to 7 points. Lang was also top scorer for the Sequoits with 18 points.

Bob Kubicki got back in stride and tallied 15 points in 6 baskets and 3 free throws.

The Sequoits could have won it at the free throw line as they missed 16 out of 38 charity attempts. The team has been cashing as many as 80% of their free throws in past games.

Another standout for the Sequoits in Saturday's contest was John Hallwas. Hall was collected 15 rebounds and scored 10 points.

Top scorer for Zion was Pontillo with 18 points. The Antioch sophs lost a real thriller in the opening game 50 to 48. Tony Pleviak hit on a 15 footer in the closing seconds to gain the victor for the Zion preps.

The Sequoits will be idle through Christmas, their next outing coming Thursday, Dec. 27, when they play their first game of the Fenton Holiday Tournament.

In looking over the squad's performance thus far Coach Roger Andrews said, "We are improving with every game, especially our reserves. Ed Matejka, sidelined due to an operation earlier, is not yet up to full strength." Andrews added, "He is a good shooter and should be a big help in coming games."

Andrews had special praise for Ken Walker who has shown a big improvement in past weeks. "He is determined and rapidly developing into a good all around player."

YULETIDE FACT and FICTION

From the host of stories that have been written about Christmas, the great tradition of the holiday season has grown through the centuries.

Fact, myth, and legend all have been blended into one package, wrapped in red and green ribbons with a sprig of holly added to sparkle the Yuletide. Still, from this wealth of material, other pertinent facts have emerged that have not been given too much attention.

Here then is such a partial compilation of Yuletide addenda:

• The top ornament of a Christmas tree is usually a star representing the Star of Bethlehem which appeared to the Three Wise Men. Of course, the Christmas tree ornament can be anything else that will "top off" the tree, but actually it is known as the gipfel.

• Santa Claus has been called by many names, not the least among them being Kris Kringle. However, Kris Kringle is not of German origin, common belief notwithstanding. The name comes from a modification of the German "Kriekind" or Christ Child. According to legend, the Christ Child is a white robed angel, a messenger — the Infant Jesus who comes bearing gifts for the children of the world.

• The most beautiful plant of Christmas is the poinsettia. Few people the world over who use the poinsettia at the holiday season as a decoration realize that it is a product of tropical or semi-tropical America.

• If you would have good fortune every month of the year, the English believe, you should taste at least 12 mince pies. And, of course, you must taste (or eat your fill) of each of the pies at Christmastime. How much truth there is in this legend is anybody's guess. But one thing you can bet on if you try this English story, is a stomach-ache.

• Ordinarily most folks believe that December 25th is the date acknowledged by the world since the beginning of the Christian era as the birthday of Christ. Actually, for three centuries following His birth, Christ's nativity was celebrated in January, March, April, May,

September and October — and all by various Christian groups.

• Proving again and again how times have changed, a churchman by the name of John Pierpont was responsible for composing the very gay and merry — making

Christmas song "Jingle Bells" which has been popular for more than a century.

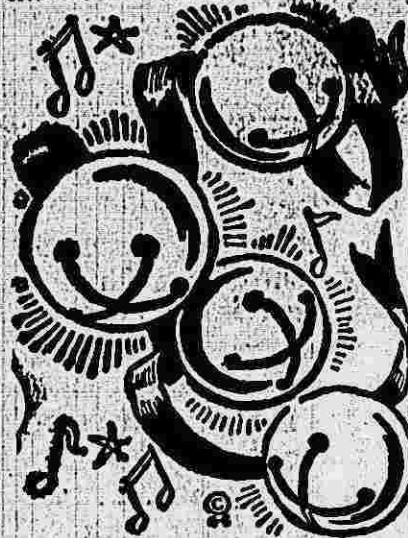

• When the early settlers in America first came to our shores to establish the American colonies, they brought many customs of Christmas now practiced in our country with them. Many customs did not come from Europe. For example the burning of the bayberry candles and branches were common practice on our shores at the Yuletide season. It was thought that bayberry branches when dipped in wax and burned at Christmas time would bring good luck for the coming year; that is, if the branches burned brightly — and how could they not?

• The present date acknowledged by the modern world as the birthdate of Christ is December 25th. This was established as late as the sixth century.

• Just to give a slight indication of the population explosion in the United States, it might be well to note that it is estimated that more than 25,000,000 Christmas trees will be decorated this year. You can multiply this number by the estimated number of decorations and tree lights that will be required, and you can guess as to what proportions the Christmas business has grown.

• More than one hundred years ago in the little town of Salzburg, Austria, there dwelt a parish priest who was much beloved by his flock and a very devout son of the church. And it came to pass, that one night when returning from a visit to last rites, he was awestricken by the beauty and incense, myrrh and gold.

brilliance of the star-gleamed night.

Once in the sanctuary of his home he is said to have been inspired by the night and the sacred duties he had just performed, and composed a poem. Not satisfied with just the words of his work he woke his organist Franz Gruber to put the words to music. This, the organist did, picking out the melody on his guitar, later transposing the melody to organ music.

As a result of this historic collaboration, one of the world's greatest religious songs was born. Since then, the entire Christian world has sung this song — and not only at Christmas time. The name of the song is "Silent Night, Holy Night," and the humble priest's name — Father Joseph Mohr.

• Contrary to common belief, the giving of gifts on December 25th did not stem from the initial giving of gifts to the Christ Child in the manger by the 3 Wise Men also known as the 3 Kings of the Orient. It is true the Bible reports that when these three kings saw the star in the Heavens they made their way to Bethlehem with gifts, frankincense, myrrh and gold.

GRASS LAKE LUMBER COMPANY

GRASS LAKE ROAD

Timmy moved his head very slowly on the pillow. He had been playing wounded cowboy, lying still and feeling the winter darkness creep into the room, listening to the sounds beyond the window... the crunch of snow as the cars sped by, the far of the switching boxcars in the nearby railroad siding. But mostly the voices.

His wan little face drew tighter around the eyes. If only he could be like the other kids, shouting and running past the window! It had been so long since he had walked and played.

He turned his face to the wall. Mama would be coming in and he didn't want her to see him this way. Mama... his whole, wide-wonderful world.

Since they had brought him home from the hospital, every moment of Mama's day was moped in to his. She was always near, her gentle hands like the touch of an angel.

He didn't want to be sick. He remembered when Papa's, "Well, Tim, old man..." made him forget the long day. Now it hurt the way Papa said it.

And Mama, telling him when she held him, about Jesus and His Heavenly home.

"Mama, when I go to Heaven will the angels let me play?" But Mama had run crying from the room and she didn't come back for a long time.

He was floating on his back now, drifting... The murmur of voices in the next room came to him from far, far off. He was so tired! He couldn't remember when he had been so tired, but he mustn't go to sleep now; not with all that magic on the other side of the door going on. If only he could stay awake!

And Papa with Mama sitting beside his bed talking to him and making him think about Christmas all the time — like Christmas had something to do with his getting well.

But, criminey, they were worse — than — kids! Why, Santa wouldn't be here for three whole days!

Timmy was right; Santa wouldn't be due for three days yet. But then Timmy did not know that his picture had been in the newspaper. Timmy and the word "leukemia" and what the doctors had to say with an urgent appeal to the heart of a great city to move Christmas closer for one small boy.

All Timmy knew, it was about to happen — now.

He could barely keep awake now. They had better come for him soon. He wanted to open his eyes but they seemed weighted down. And now the great chill was steadily creeping over him — and he was so tired. So awfully tired...

Timmy bounced along like a breeze in April on logs ("Gee, they never got tired!") that seemed to float under him. He hadn't gotten his wings yet; he was grounded until he knew his way around a little more. This was such a big place... bigger than the roundhouse where Papa had once taken him!

He had a pal too, who had taken him under his wing, so to speak, Willie. Like everything else in this wonderful place, Willie had been there like a real pal, waiting, like he knew he was coming. He knew the ropes too, Willie did. He had been around quite a while. Take the way he explained it when Timmy wondered why he had been here so long...

"Gosh sakes, Tim, if everybody grew up, there wouldn't be any kids in Heaven!" "Gee, I never thought of that," Timmy said. That Willie was a wise little guy all right.

They were strolling now in The Garden, where beauty and wonder all blended with the music of children's laughter. Funny thing, it was like he always had lived here; why he didn't feel strange at all, he knew so many of these kids! But golly, they were so different from the way he remembered them. There was Joey from down the block. He had worn braces and talked funny and his hands flopped around like they weren't his at all. One day he didn't come around anymore, and Papa told Timmy that Joey had gone away. Boy, if Joey's Mama and Papa could see their Joey now! Why, he was hollering like the dickens, pedaling like mad, no different at all from the other kids.

And Rags; all the kids called him that because his pants were always torn, and he was so skinny. And Tina who was blind. One day she fell into a hole and they took her away and he never saw her again.

Now she was here too, but she could see and she was running and playing with all the other kids and there was laughter in her eyes where before there was nothing.

There were no quarrels, for no child had more than anyone else and everyone had everything — "for this was the Kingdom of Heaven."

Yes, it was all Mama had promised in this wonderful Forever After... Mama. And Papa. Gee, if they only could be here too! But again Willie, Heavenly-wise, drew on first hand experience to comfort his new little pal. Just a while he told Timmy, and they would all be together again. A year, ten years (time meant so little here). It would be like waiting for them to come home from shopping at the store.

Suddenly Timmy was confused. Where was everyone going? All this wonderful excitement, this sudden hurrying in one direction. But of course... How could he have forgotten — this was The Night!

From the Playgrounds of Paradise they came — laughing, dancing, singing. High above, like the chime of a bell faint and distant at first, now rolling across the Heavens with the mighty beat of a giant drum, the voices of all the angels rang out in hallelujahs to become hushed and whisper-soft as the flutter of birds' wings as His little ones skipped and danced into the great Palace of the Throne.

Then a child's voice was heard — then another's and others until they all were singing, "Happy birthday to You, happy birthday to You, happy birthday dear Jesus, happy birthday to You."

And now Timmy saw it. The tree. The TREE! Up, up it reached, rising to the very dome of Heaven, its branches silver rainbows darting in and out of the stars. Sunbeams peeped through the foliage lighting the great tree with the glow of the dawn. And lo, above it all, in a dazzling halo more brilliant than the sun,

The Star appeared lighting the Universe with its message as it had so long ago. "Ooooooh, look!" With one voice they cried out. Never, never was there a tree like this. Danked around it, like a great drift in the forest, was every imaginable gift and toy.

And there was Magic and the real Make-believe and the Wonderland Alice knew — and no child was forgotten, is bright.

And gee-criminey, look up there! It was, it was! Santa Claus in a golden sleigh flashing across the Heavens, his great voice ringing out, "On Dancer, voice on Prancer, on Donner and Blitzen!"... Santa with his snow-white beard flowing behind like a banner. But the beard wasn't fooling day. It was memories and Timmy. Oh, it was real heartaches, laughter and enough all right but he had seen it before. It was the afternoon he had come up first step taken with a tiny and the towering, jovial hand clinging to theirs. It Man accosted him at The Gate.

"Merry Christmas... Merry Christmas!"

And now he was climbing out of his sleigh; his boom- ing voice echoing like the rumble of summer thunder. Tiny hands clutched his robe, and reaching down like a fisherman playing in his net, he drew in this child, then another, and another and another.

Looking up... Timmy watched the flowing beard draw closer; and now the great arms were scooping him up and holding him the way Papa did. How gentle that great voice could be! He told Timmy that because of the joys of Christmas he had missed on earth, he was to be granted a special wish on The Star.

A wish on The Star — a gift from the manger for the little ones that slumbered off to Paradise the night of Jesus' birth. Jeru-salem! But what more could a fellow want — unless — a Christmas present to the two he loved so much on earth! If they could only know, so as not to be sad or too lonely because he had left them.

"Please, could my Mama and Papa know where I am..."

"Well, now..." the Keeper of the Gate said, and stroking his long beard he looked high above the heads of the little ones and waited; waited just like Timmy, but a bit more confidently for his answer.

Snow, falling steadily since dark, settled deep on the porch of the little house. In a darkened corner stood the tinsel tree, but there was no joy of Christmas for the two who faced it. Timmy's Mama and Papa alone now with their sorrow asking that eternal question, "Why, Why, Why?"

For a long while neither spoke, and then while they stared into the half darkness, an aching memory in every shadow, softly it came to them like the far tinkling of a bell. Then nearer, swelling higher as the rising of the wind, the voices of children filled the night, the sweet voices of little ones singing Christmas Carols, "All is calm, all is bright."

And while they listened, the harsh lines of sorrow in their faces softened, and in their eyes came the knowledge of the Miracle. That ringing out, "On Dancer, voice on Prancer, on Donner and Blitzen!"... Santa with his snow-white beard flowing behind like a banner. But the beard wasn't fooling day. It was memories and Timmy. Oh, it was real heartaches, laughter and enough all right but he had seen it before. It was the afternoon he had come up first step taken with a tiny and the towering, jovial hand clinging to theirs. It Man accosted him at The Gate.

The woman's lips moved but no words came, and the man's thoughts were hers. Going to the door, his hand trembled as he turned the knob. Snow, feathery as down, blew in through the open doorway, and when the last note had drifted away on the still night air, he closed the door softly and took his place at the woman's side.

"I couldn't see..." his voice trailed off finding no words for the wonder of it. "They left no footprints in the snow."

The woman's hand touched his, the light in her eyes the peace of understanding. Once more she was holding her first born in her arms. Words? What need was there for words? Can words clarify a miracle? Do we question the sun when it rises in the morning?

A switch clicked softly as the man left her side, and where there was darkness before, the room came aglow with red and green and rays of gold as the lights of the tree shone softly upon them.

St. Francis of Assisi Originator of Church Christmas Carol Singing

Regardless of the derivation, it was St. Francis of Assisi who was credited with having given popularity to carol singing when he is said to have conducted a Christmas service singing the Gospel and giving a sermon in song.

When minstrels and folk singing swept the land back in Richard the Lion-Hearted's day, carols were kept alive through the simple folk in community after community, who passed them down from generation to generation. But it was not until the 16th Century when the custom finally broke away from the austerity and sombre chants of the Church and reached its popularity and magnificence. But then came the Puritans in the 17th Century who sternly forbade joyous celebrations at Christmas, and the singing of carols went into a decline.

It wasn't until the 18th Century before the singing of carols again came into open public popularity. And this was only made possible through the illicit printing and singing of carols in the privacy of the homes of the people who loved them dearly.

In 1840, the world famous, "Silent Night" appeared in print, and today its beauty resounds the world over in every Christian land at Christmastime.

Legends & Christmas Myths

The willingness of people all over the world to believe in myths and legends that have been passed down from generation to generation, is well known.

Because Christmas—and the festival of the holiday season is so interwoven with mysticism, legend and historical records, many superstitions have resulted in various countries.

The very Santa Claus story itself, is perhaps the greatest of all the Christmas myths, and as research has revealed, is expressed differently in various parts of the world.

As a matter of fact, the actual modern symbol of Santa Claus with his round belly, twinkling eyes, rosy cheeks, flowing white beard, driving his reindeer-drawn sleigh across the sky on Christmas Eve from the North Pole where he has a mammoth toy factory, was created in New York as early as 1882, a mere eighty years ago.

There are, however, equally as fanciful beliefs in other parts of the world, and while there is no documentary evidence to support actual belief in these superstitions, they are nevertheless accepted as legend and passed on, keeping them alive.

For example, if you were born on Christmas Eve in Scotland, it wouldn't be at all amiss if you believed that you had the power to see spirits, and yes, even to command them to do your bidding.

If this idea gives you pause and you mentally find themselves, for what raise a quizzical eyebrow in over reason, in the Swiss disbelief, consider the peasants of France. These gentle folk believe (the story goes) that all babies born on Christmas Eve will have a ready and facile tongue.

We wonder if by that they mean "gift of gab." But that isn't all with these French folk of the countryside. They also believe that those babies born on Christmas Day will be gifted with logic; a moot and when the unwary Miss quality, one often born with accepts, she accepts the progenitor of argument, donor with it. (That's at But ah, the maidens of Christmas time, of course). France who, born on Christmas Day, come in for the big boon, for these lucky mademoiselles, it is said, will be witty, wise and virtuous!

The Sillesians have a pixie-like sense of legend—or perhaps humor, when it comes to the gifts earmarked for babies born on Christmas. And how they arrived at this equation boggles logic, because they claim that all such babes who see the light of day on this holy day are destined to be either lawyers or thieves!

In Ireland—land of the leprechaun and other little folk from never-never land, they have a religious belief that is worthwhile indeed.

They believe that if one dies on Christmas Day, he goes straight to Heaven. The doors to Paradise are open for suchfortunates, and Purgatory is completely bypassed no matter what kind of malefactor the deceased was on earth. Now that's a gift of Heaven!

The farmers of Denmark have a legend they keep alive—but this one is couched in the economic formulas of life. They believe that baked goods, and particularly bread that is made at Christmastime and saved until sowing time, will insure a good crop and harvest.

"Good St. Thomas serve me right, and send me my true love tonight," is a jingle that is highly romantic and might be applied to either sex. But not so in northern England. In this region of our English cousins, a maiden with yearning heart, used this as a supplication for a mate, but only if she placed a piece of holly under her pillow during the observance of Christmas.

One word of warning to unmarried ladies who might find themselves, for what raise a quizzical eyebrow in over reason, in the Swiss disbelief, consider the peasants of France. These gentle folk believe (the story goes) that all babies born on Christmas Eve will have a ready and facile tongue. ones. Anyway You Say It, "MERRY CHRISTMAS"

With the world so travel-conscious, it's little wonder that the practice of communications has broadened in recent times. Then too, distances in this modern jet-age have shrunk, and it isn't at all uncommon to hear youngsters talk about their jaunts abroad as though the places they visited were within a stone's throw.

That being the case, the ability at this time of the year to say "Merry Christmas" in many languages would seem in order. Therefore what follows are a few ways you can greet your friends from foreign lands:

Bohemia, Veselo Vanoce; Bulgaria, Chestita Koleda; Croatia, Sretan Bojic; Denmark, Glaedelig Jul; Wales, Nadolig Llawen; Ukrania, Srozhdestvom Kri-ovym; Spanish speaking countries, Feliz Navidad; Portuguese (Portugal, Brazil) Boas Festas; Poland, Weselych Swiat; Italy, Bu-one Feste Natalizie; Ger-many, Froeliche Wienach-ten; France, Joyeux Noel; Ireland, Nodlaig Mhaith Chugnat.

The above, of course, are just a few ways of saying "Merry Christmas" in foreign tongues, nor would we attempt to pronounce them. But anyway, anywhere in the Christian world, the spirit of Christmas exists and when offered with sincerity is instantly understood no matter what the language.

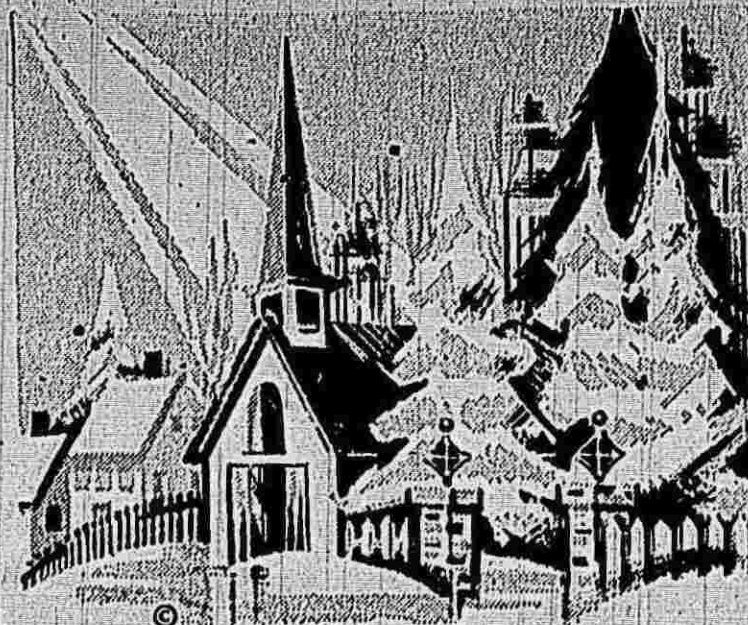

So—"Merry Christmas To All."

Santa, 80 Years Old, Made In U.S.A.

Claims to the "new look" have come from various quarters of the globe, Paris and its Dior included, but the one indisputable fact emerges from all claimers of fame for the naming of the tag, and that is, Santa Claus was the harbinger of the "new look" back in 1882 with a "Made in U.S.A." label indelibly stamped on the seat of his pants.

That doesn't mean to say that the spirit of Santa Claus isn't a composite one, nor that his very make-up isn't a combination of many things from many lands beginning with St. Nicholas thru the Germanic Krist-kind and back to ancient and even pagan times.

But it's the round-bellied, jovial, ruddy faced character with the flowing white beard driving his reindeer-drawn sleigh across the night sky on Christmas eve, to which reference is made, and this is definitely as American as turkey and apple pie.

It started, however, with Santa as a severe looking character, tall and grim, and to boot, he was riding a tall, thin horse. A far cry from our present day conception of the old boy.

Then followed the name, and the English children borrowed the Christmas Saint from the Dutch, but it became a problem for the small fry as well as their parents pronouncing his name, and through trial and error, many variations came to pass until the name Santa Claus was adopted to remain for all time.

But that was only a change in the name. The awesome figure remained until Washington Irving put pen to paper and wrote his "Knickerbocker's History of New York." He tried his hand at creating a Santa Claus.

Irving, an early chronicler of American Colonial days was of course, influenced by the early Dutch settlers in New York and what came out as a result of his efforts was a Santa Claus that wore a broad-brimmed hat, sported big baggy breeches and smoked a long stemmed pipe. Very Dutch.

To top it all off he had his "Santa" driving a wagon, which too, was symbolic of the early Dutch settlers in New York.

Then came the year 1882 and with it two men who were destined to change the entire concept of Santa Claus in America, and who were responsible for the "new look" of the old gentleman and Christmas that has swept the world. Clement Clark Moore, a professor of divinity at a New York theology seminary, sat himself down one day and began a poem that went, "Twas the night before Christmas, and all through the house, not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse; . . . Of course it was a poem that became famous overnight and has retained its popularity through the years. The name of it is, "A Visit From St. Nicholas" and is known in every English speaking nation in the world.

It was Moore who described Santa Claus as a round-bellied, twinkly-eyed jolly old man with rosy cheeks. But that wasn't the end of it. He also added the sleigh and reindeer.

When Thomas Nast, a famous cartoonist for the Hearst newspapers, read the poem, he was inspired to illustrate it. And it was his creation of the Santa Claus we know today that took hold of the imagination of the people and was firmly established as the accepted Santa Claus, pot-belly, rosy cheeks, twinkling eyes, flowing white beard, reindeer, sleigh and all.

Actually, Santa Claus — U.S.A. version — is only 80 years old, but the "new look" created in our time has come to be accepted throughout the Christian world, and even if he isn't the giver of gifts in all countries, he nevertheless is as much the symbol of Christmas as anything else at Yuletide.

Yule Candle Burning Traced To Irish

When the first Christmas candles were lighted, is not known, and yet the custom of burning candles at the Yuletide can be traced back centuries.

The way the story goes, the "Christ Child Candle" was burned in windows to light His way if He made an earthly visitation. It was also lighted in stonement for the night of His birth when shaver was denied Mary and Joseph in Bethlehem.

The legend which surrounds the lighting of candles at Christmastime is as the religious significance said to have started in Ireland. There on Christmas Eve, a large candle is burned which could be snuffed out only by some one named Mary. As it is reported from the Emerald Isle, "Who knows on some Christmas Eve, Jesus, Mary and Joseph may come again; not to Palestine, but to the Holy Isle on the farthest edge of Europe."

In ancient days, brightly burning candles were as much a part of Christmas as the religious significance of the holy day. And it was in ancient times when the bayberry candle held particular significance. It was believed that if the candles burned bright and clear throughout the Christmas season, the coming year was certain to be happy and prosperous.

Then too, in Colonial days, bayberry branches were dipped in wax and used instead of candles when animal fat for the making of candles was in short supply.

Holy Land Birthplace Of Three Of World's Great Religions

It is questionable whether many people realize the geographical area that comprised the world around which Christianity grew. It is also more amazing to contemplate the world today and the influence Christianity has had upon civilization, when it is reflected that all the events the Bible records occurred in an area no more than 80 miles wide and 400 miles long!

The area known as the Holy Land is small indeed. The historical events however, which have taken place in this tiny piece of land, have almost literally taken civilization by its heels and shaken it into a realization of the difference between good and evil, even though in some parts of the world this realization is not openly acknowledged.

Within these small boundaries, contrasts can be found that are startling. For example, near Galilee the rainfall is abundant, while not far distant the desolation of the Negev desert is well known. Within a distance of 15 miles one can travel from heights of 2600 feet above sea level to 1297 feet below sea level.

The oldest inhabited city in the world is in the Holy Land. It is Damascus, which has been continuously inhabited from the earliest recordings of Biblical times to the present. The old wall around Damascus still stands and is so thick in places that many families have carved out homes from its massiveness.

The oldest city in terms of founding dates is Jericho. It is said to be 10,000 years old. However, it has not always been inhabited. There have been four Jerichos at various times, each not more than two miles from the previous sites.

Also in this fabulous land is the River Jordan. It now is a muddy stream not more than 50 feet wide that's deep in the springtime and dry during the hot summer months.

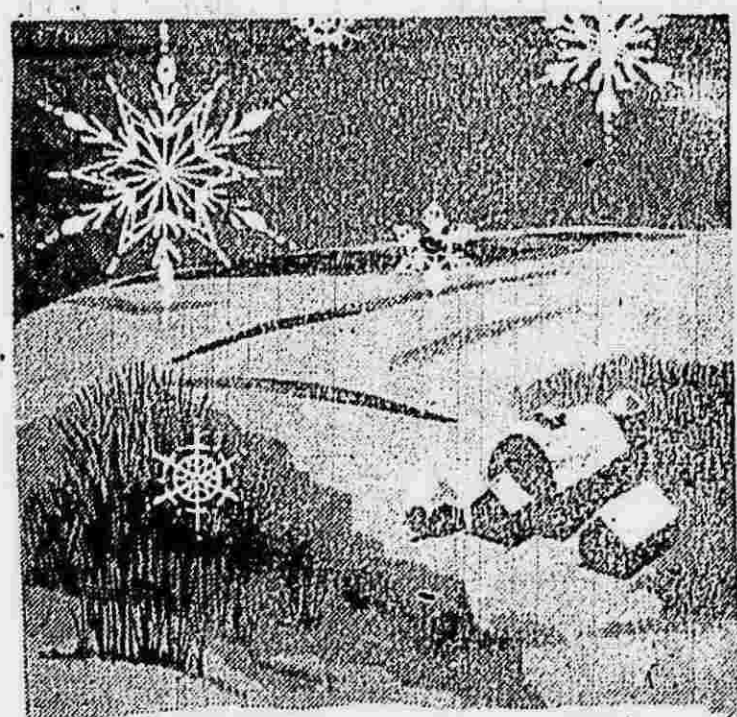

Many people are under the false impression that the Sea of Galilee is really a sea. It is not. It is a lake 13 miles long and 8 miles wide.

There is one place in the Holy Land that is more famous than any other — Jerusalem. Even today, it is a walled city, that has been besieged and razed more than thirty times, rebuilt at least six times, and is little more than 80 acres in area. Outside the wall of Jerusalem is the famous Garden of Gethsemane and the Mount of Olives.

Nazareth, the city from which Joseph and Mary started on their trip to Bethlehem, is now a barren small town.

The Holy Land is the birthplace of three of the world's great religions: Christianity, Judaism and Mohammedanism. Still a land of controversy and conflict, it is prayed one day the teachings of Him who said, "Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Men," will be heeded.

Santa Claus Around The World

The beauty in all children, the wonder that lights up their faces and gladdens the hearts of everyone at Christmastime is eloquent tribute to the holy idea behind the festival celebrating the birth of Christ.

In many lands, the symbol of Christmas and Santa Claus is different. In America and many other countries the appearance of Santa Claus is the signal for the holiday season to begin.

The jolly, round, rosy-cheeked character with the flowing white beard is the fellow responsible for the bringing of gifts. He drives a sleigh drawn by reindeer, and rides across the night sky on Christmas eve from the North Pole, hopping from chimney to chimney with his pack of toys for all good boys and girls. But the origin of Santa Claus dates back many centuries to many lands where the symbol of Christmas has taken many forms.

Strangely enough, St. Nicholas was born in a remote town in Asia Minor by the name of Petras. It has been told of this great, hardest working saint of all, the many and wondrous deeds of good for which he was responsible. He helped the poor and needy and saved the lives of many.

Believe it or not, he is the patron saint of bankers, pawnbrokers, children, unmarried girls, sailors, and thieves. He lived a long time ago and is said to have died about 343 A.D.

About the year 950 A.D. Russia adopted St. Nicholas as her patron saint. Later the Laplanders followed suit as did the Samoyeds. Legend has it that this is where St. Nick acquired the story of the reindeer and sleigh.

And with the changing of the locale, so changed the symbol of Santa Claus. In Germany, France, Switzerland, Holland and Luxembourg, Santa Claus is recognized as a horseman on a beautiful white steed, loaded down not only with gifts for the good children he visits, but whipping rods for the naughty ones. He makes his ghostly ride December 5th.

In the early days of the American colonies, the Dutch brought with them Star, brings gifts to children, their idea of what St. Nick was supposed to look like.

He was called "Santeklas" and was a severe, lean, spindly looking gent in long robes. Not at all like our version of Santa.

He was gradually transformed to the happy fellow he is today through the efforts of an American cartoonist by the name of Thomas Nast in the nineteenth century, and since then, the traditional Santa Claus, reindeer and sleigh as we now know them came to stay on the American scene.

In many countries, the Christ Child or Kristkind, is the giver of gifts. Others falling in the same role are less known and many of them have passed into limbo. This would include Tante Aria, a cloud goddess who, accompanied by the Father Star, brings gifts to children.

Hungarian children depend upon a host of angels for their Christmas gifts. Italian children look to "La Befana," a mystical wanderer, carrying a broom — albeit she is a good fairy — who brings gifts to good children.

Old Russia had her "Babushka," who, in search of the Christ Child, went from house to house carrying a staff and a bag of toys for the children.

St. Lucy is little known in most countries, but in Denmark, Switzerland and some others, it is this saint who is responsible for the distribution of gifts.

And so it goes throughout the world. Regardless of the legend, the Yule holiday is the spirit of unselfishness, the wonder of children's joy, all combined in one joyous song and praise of thanksgiving, of beauty, that is Christmas.

JAPAN

When the GIs were in Japan they brought with them many State-side ideas, not the least of which was Christmas. The Japanese were quick to adopt the custom and now have their Kurisumasu (Christmas), but it's more like wild New Year celebrations we express in the United States. Their New Year is celebrated much as we do Christmas.

The traditional festival colors in Japan are red and green and white, so it was easy for them to adopt the accepted Christmas colors we enjoy. But the Japanese have "modernized" their version of Santa Claus — and instead of the fat, jolly, rosy-cheeked fellow with the white beard, they dress their prettiest girls in the traditional regalia and the shorter the dresses they wear, the better.

RUSSIA

Believe it or not, Russia celebrates Christmas much as we do in the United States, with one exception. They do not make any reference to anything holy or religious about the day. But they do have a "Father Frost" and "Winter Trees."

U.S. Adopts World Yule Customs

In terms of age, the United States is the youngest of the Christian nations that celebrates Christmas.

As a result, it is easy to understand that this country has borrowed its Christmas customs from many parts of the world — the celebration of the holy season being as old as it is.

However, the greatest contributors to our customs at the Yuletide have been England, Germany, Italy, Holland, Switzerland and Bavaria. But the "borrowing" Americans have done from their neighbors of the world underwent changes indigenous to our country, with some of the trimmings not picked up at all.

ENGLAND

In England, they have a Boxing Day, and why it is called "Boxing" is not known. Some theorists ascribe the name to the fact that the day after Christmas, gifts are left for the postman. This has spread to include the milkman and others who have performed services for the household.

SWISS

The business of the sleigh and six reindeer has been borrowed from the Swiss. But instead of our version of Santa Claus directing his team across the sky, they have an angel in the driver's seat, who comes bearing gifts.

BAVARIA

Candles in the window at Christmas Eve comes from Bavaria, where the custom dictates the tradition of lighting the way for Kristkind, messenger for the Infant Jesus.

THE YULE LOG

From England and Italy — though many miles apart — comes the custom of the burning of the Yule log. The more romantic Italians dress up their ceremony by having their children stand blindfolded before the burning log and recite a poem. When the children are finished reciting, the blindfolds are removed and at their feet are gifts. The log takes the place of the Christmas tree.

THE URN OF FATE

Another quaint custom prevails in Italy and Spain — in regards to the giving of gifts. In these two countries all gifts are placed in a large bowl called the "Urn of Fate." In it are dumped presents for all, none of them marked. Then each person draws a gift, examines it and trades among the members of the family until each receives a suitable present.

HOLLAND

In Holland they play a guessing and hunting game when it comes to passing out Christmas gifts. They put small gifts into enormous packages, hide large gifts in remote parts of the house, and use other more ingenious devices for hiding the gifts including the imbedding of them in sausages. The fun of course, is not only in the finding of Christmas presents but also in guessing what they might be.

GERMANY

The Germans have a similar game but with a different twist. They wrap a gift and put a person's name on it. Then they wrap it again with still another person's name on it. This goes on until the package is quite large. Then when it comes to the unwrapping ceremony, each person expectantly unwraps, until finally there are no more "addressees" and the gift reaches its intended destination.

MEXICO

Mexican children do not hang stockings at fireplaces, as there are few in this tropical country. Thus the giving of gifts and goodies for children is surrounded by the custom of breaking the pinata (pronounced pin-yata). The pinata is a large earthenware pot, around which paper figures of birds, animals and even boats are created. The pot is then filled with gifts, cakes, candy and other good things. The filled pinata is hung by a rope from a rafter, and the children gather beneath it blindfolded. At a signal the children, armed with sticks, strike out at where they think the pinata is, break it and the goodies come tumbling down: at which point the scramble begins.

THE PHILIPPINES

The Philippines, predominantly Catholic, start their Christmas on December 16th and climax eight days with Mass worship at 3 a.m. with midnight services held at Christmas Eve. That is the signal for the fireworks, the exchanging of gifts, caroling and general merry-making to begin. The final Christmas festivities come to a conclusion January 6th, which is the date of the visit of the three kings of the East.

SWEDEN

Christmas in Sweden is actually the celebration of St. Lucia — and held on December 13th. On this day the oldest girl in each family rises early, dons a long white dress and crowns herself with lighted candles. Then she wakes the family and serves coffee and cake.

The Scandinavian countries also have a delightful custom at Christmas time. In Sweden, Denmark and Norway, a tree is loaded with a sheaf of wheat for the birds on Christmas Eve. Beneath the tree, the children sprinkle pieces of suet.

HAWAII

Not to be outdone by anyone else, Hawaii has its Christmas too. But no reindeer, no sleigh. Their Santa arrives on the beach riding an outrigger canoe, and to top it all off, "Santa" is a hula-skirted girl!

All of which goes to prove that it's a point of view that dictates the custom of the country. But no matter what the geographical position, Christmas is Christmas — and it's the spirit that counts. So, Merry Christmas, everyone!

Your friendship has been a joy. We wish you a Merry Christmas.

Yuletide Customs Different Abroad

There was a time when Christmas was celebrated differently in various parts of the world. However, in this atomic-jet age, distances have shrunk and the symbols of the Yuletide Season have become for the most part, international.

Germany, for example, is credited with establishing the custom of decorating the evergreen tree. St. Nicholas (Nikolaus) makes his rounds with candy and nuts for the children on December 6 with the more personal gifts arriving on Christmas Eve, delivered by his majesty Kristkindl.

England hangs on to her customs, and the small-try pin their stockings to the fireplace on Christmas Eve much as American youngsters do. Then it is that "Father Christmas" fills them in time-honored tradition.

Mexico focuses its attention on the Christmas season with ten "posadas" commemorating the Nativity from December 16 to December 26th. During this period nearly everyone acts out the Nativity scene, or at least sets up a creche in miniature, as well as on a grand scale. On the tenth day, the Christ Child is added.

"Posada" means inn or lodging and carries with it Joseph's request for lodging for himself and Mary. In many regions, an actual procession is enacted—with a "Joseph" and a "Mary" mounted on burros seeking shelter, asking for help through a song entitled "Letania." Despite all this tradition which is clung to, Santa Claus and the U.S. style Christmas tree are fast making inroads on custom.

Holland has a word for it—"Strooiwand"—literally meaning "strewing night." Actually, it's sort of a bribe-game the children of the Netherlands play on December 5th. They simply place their shoes in front of the fireplace filling them with hay and carrots for good old St. Nick's horse. It is expected that the old boy will fill the children's shoes with goodies and toys.

Brazil makes the punishment fit the crime, so to speak, and Papa Noel makes his Christmas rounds trimming the traditional trees with cotton and bits of popcorn in lieu of the snow they never have in this tropical country. No sleigh-rides here, so the order of the day is picnics and excursions. Scotland has some unusual delicacies for the holiday season, with New Year's Day the signal for the giving of gifts. Haggis is a favorite dish and this is what it consists of: the heart, liver and lungs of a sheep or a calf, minced with suet, onions, oatmeal and seasoning and boiled in the stomach of the animal. New Year's calling is traditional and it is expected that the visitor bring with him a handful of coal.

A BLESSED CHRISTMAS

Sincerely, all of us extend our hope that this holy season will bring all of you fulfillment of your dreams.

16th Century Marks Birth Of Christmas Tree

It's very possible that many people have been under the impression that the evergreen tree has been a symbol of Christmas since the beginning of the Christian era.

Nothing could be further from the truth. As a matter of fact it was not until the 16th Century that the use of evergreens was sanctioned by the church.

The first evergreen tree as used at Christmas such as we know it, was first introduced in Strasbourg, Germany; history indicating the date at 1604, and had been used traditionally at the holiday season in this country for centuries.

England saw its first Christmas tree as a result of a marital alliance in the Victorian era: It seems that when the Queen married the German Prince Albert, he brought the Christmas tree custom with him, and there it has stayed ever since.

When the world was young, the story goes, the use of evergreen boughs for indoor decorations were used during celebrations by the Druids; the use of the green boughs and trees symbolizing the ever-green, ever-growing spirit of Nature, with due reverence and homage paid to the idea.

Since the advent of the traditional tree, candles and ornaments represent the new birth and bloom of growing things.

As for the "red" of the holly berries, it is indicated that there is no historical significance for this choice of color, it just being handy from the holly leaves. Actually, white is the authentic Christmas color according to the precepts of the church.

A Gay 80's Christmas Dinner

In this day of calorie-counting and weight-conscious people, it's interesting to note what a Christmas dinner was back at the turn of the century. As a matter of fact, the suggestions given for the three Christmas meals at the White House are slightly staggering and yet they weren't considered out of line when it came to holiday feasting.

BREAKFAST

Oranges
Boiled Rice
Broiled Salt Mackerel
Poached Eggs a la creme
Wheat Bread
Potato Fillets
Griddle Cakes (with honey)
Coffee

Now then, after this "light" breakfast, you were expected to sit down and do justice to the traditional Christmas dinner.

DINNER

Oysters On The Half
Shell
Game Soup
Boiled White Fish
Roast Goose (or Turkey)
Boiled Potatoes
Mashed Turnips
Stewed Onions
Boiled Rice
Lobster Salad
Christmas Plum Pudding
Mince Pie
Orange Jelly

Delicate Cakes
Salted Almonds
Confectionery
Fruits
Coffee

Under today's rules for eating, one would have drawn the line after breakfast and delayed dinner until a late hour. Not so with our hearty forebears. These gentry, took a deep breath and girded themselves for battle with the evening meal. Light by comparison, but see what they considered "light."

SUPPER

Cold Roast Goose (or Turkey)
Oyster Patties
Cole Slaw

Buns
Charlotte Russe
Peach Jelly
Tea

However, in spite of the fact that our forebears were trenchermen in the food department, they nevertheless were all subject to the same gastronomic ailments and discomforts we of the patent medicine age are.

This revealing fact comes to light in the White House Cook Book of 1900, hedging its bet on the possibility of perhaps you may have over-eaten at the groaning Christmas board. This is what it says under the heading:

HEALTH SUGGESTIONS

"First restore digestion, take plenty of sleep, drink all the water the stomach will bear in the morning on rising, take moderate exercise in the open air, eat oatmeal, cracked wheat, graham mush, baked sweet apples, roasted or broiled beef, cultivate jolly people and bathe daily."

"and on earth peace, good will toward men"

"Let us pray that strength and courage abundant be given to all who work for a world of reason and understanding — that the good that lies in every man's heart may day by day be magnified — that men will come to see more clearly not that which divides them, but that which unites them — that each hour may bring us closer to final victory, not of nation over nation, but of man over his own evils and weaknesses — that the true Spirit of this Christmas Season, its joys, its beauty, its hope, and above all its abiding faith, may live among us — that the blessings of peace be ours, the peace to build and grow, to live in harmony and sympathy with others, and to plan for the future with confidence."

In The First Year of Our Lord

Long ago when the world was young, a miracle came to pass that changed men's thoughts — and the Spirit of Christianity was born on earth.

And for nearly 2,000 years this Spirit has lived — pointing the way for the morals of the world wherever men of good heart live and heed the teachings of Him who preached, "Love thy neighbor as thyself."

And the way the story goes, it was in the year 3761 by the old calendar, that Caesar decreed that a tax would be levied on everyone in the realm, and so each to his own native city travelled, among them Joseph and his wife Mary, she heavy with child.

Poor these two were, sore beset by travail as they journeyed from Galilee to the city of David, known as Bethlehem, to do the bidding of Caesar.

And it came to pass that when they arrived in Bethlehem, Mary brought forth her first-born Son, and because there was no room at the inn where Joseph begged shelter, her infant

Saviour, which is Christ the Lord. "And this shall be a sign unto you; ye shall find the Babe wrapped in swaddling clothes lying in a manger."

Thorn Tree Blooms In England, D.C.

A phenomenon occurs every Christmas, not known by many, that may be witnessed by anyone in the Cathedral of the Close in Washington, D.C., or Glastonbury, Somerset, England.

It is the story of the Holy Thorn Tree that blossoms in England every December 25th and in Washington some time during the same month.

The legend relates that two days before Christmas, St. Joseph of Arimathea approached Glastonbury. He carried with him the Holy Grail used at the Last Supper.

As St. Joseph came toward the town, he stopped to rest on the crest of a hill. He drove his staff into the ground and it took root immediately.

The next day, Christmas Eve, it had become a Thorn Tree and was covered with blossoms.

And suddenly there was with the angel, a multitude of the Heavenly Host praising God and saying "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men."

And it came to pass, as the angels were gone away from them to Heaven, the shepherds said one to another, "Let us now go unto Bethlehem, and see this thing which is come to pass which the Lord hath made known to us."

And lo, the Star which they saw in the east went before them until it came and stood over where the Child was.

And they came with haste and found Mary and the Babe lying in the manger as they were told.

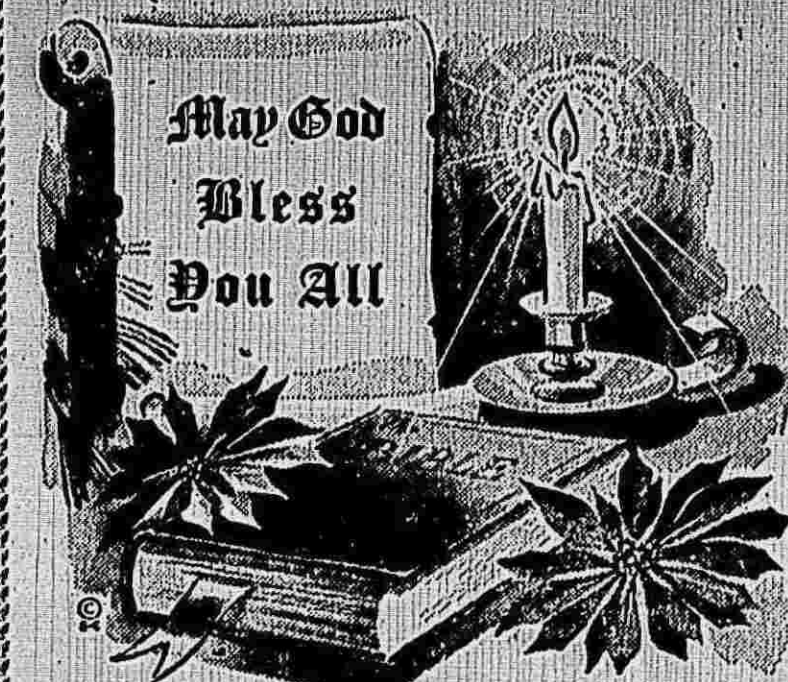

And then there were the three kings — the three wise men who gazed into the brilliance of the Heavens, and there shining in the east was one Star greater than all the rest.

And when they saw the Star they rejoiced with exceeding joy and prepared to go to Him born of Mary in the manger.

And when they were come into the house, they saw the Child with Mary His mother, and fell down and worshipped Him; and when they had opened their treasures, they presented unto Him gifts: gold and frankincense and myrrh in the first year of our Lord.

Mistletoe Said To 'Father' Romance

Mistletoe, long a symbol and signal for kissing who-the mistletoe was also wide-spread among the Scandinavians. In many countries from self around a tree, strange-time to time, the plant was ling and killing it. Hardly considered a cure-all for what one might term an affectionate plant!

The ancient Arabians showed their devotion to their gods by kissing; the Romans too accepted the kiss as a sign of reverence and respect.

The Druids too, embraced the mistletoe, and from them perhaps, came the decrees that being kissed if custom of hanging pieces of caught under it is par for it over the doorways of the course, who can argue their homes.

But the mistletoe is a part of Christmas, and if custom them perhaps, came the decrees that being kissed if custom of hanging pieces of caught under it is par for it over the doorways of the course, who can argue their homes.

Christ's Birth Date Shrouded In Mystery

Christmas is celebrated agree and finally, the calendar throughout the Christian dars have changed over the world as the birth date of years.

Christ, True enough, but what day exactly that her 25th was chosen as the Christ was born is a mystery.

The date has been in dispute for centuries with the exception of one thing. All agree that it wasn't December 25th.

At one time or another Christmas was celebrated in January, March, April, May, October, November, and December.

The reasons for the diverse of beliefs are: the Bible does not give any clues; the early manuscripts disagree, the interpretations of these manuscripts disagree, and celebrating.

Christmas Story Borrows Legends From Ancients

In establishing the date by which Christmas is celebrated commemorating the effect on the festival of birth of Christ, it is interesting to note that Christmas did not begin its calendar computations until almost 550 years after the birth of Christ.

Much of the Christmas story is still unknown and untold; but legend and every epoch of history, story has traced its history from the old, old Babylonian since the beginning when Christ preached among the people, "Love thy neighbor as thyself."

Christ was thirty years of age when the people of His time recognized Him as the Messiah of God. In face of the shepherds and Three Wise Men; it wasn't until the Holy Spirit descended upon Him at the baptism in the Jordan that His teachings were accepted by the Christian world.

Strangely enough, many influences have had their effect on the festival of Christmas as it is practiced today, and none of them in the true sense of the word. Yet, with them lies the true, romantic, rich beginnings of the Christmas Story.

History tells us that from the old, old Babylonian Festivals, to the Druid Mysteries, from the Roman Saturnalia, to the Egyptian Midwinter Festival of Food and finally to Christ Himself, has come segments of the whole of the Christmas Story.

But there is more to the Christmas Story. Much of what the Christian world in this twentieth century observes, stems from a time long years and even centuries before Christ.

And it wasn't until the third century that the western countries accepted Him as the Son of God since His birth. Each of the four Gospel narratives, Matthew, Mark, Luke and John, testify to this.

Since the beginning of the recordings of early civilization — from the most primitive societies — it was believed that the period of Noel of the French, the time when the winter solstice ended and the sun took on new strength to give Germans and the Christ brilliance, light and fertility Mass of the early Roman to the world, a period of joy, Catholic Church, the gay, ousness and thanks should be celebrated throughout the world.

In the time of the Romans, Persians and Germanic tribes when the world was younger, December 25 was the day set aside for pagan festivities. It is thought in some quarters that the Christians "invented" Christmas as a sort of competitive holiday.

And so, out of Yule of the Northern Europeans, the Noche Buena of the Spaniards, the Weihnachten of the Germans and the Christ Mass of the early Roman Catholic Church, the gay, glorious, deeply religious holiday that is Christmas has come to us.

O come, let us adore Him...
